

Treatment Planning in Implant Dentistry

US Version

Authors: Winston Chee and Sajid Jivraj

Treatment Planning in Implant Dentistry is one of the latest additions to the popular BDJ Book range. The title has been developed from a series commissioned for the British Dental Journal to provide a systematic approach to decision-making prior to implant placement.

Written by two experts in the field, augmented by contributions from colleagues at the University of Southern California School of Dentistry, the book will enable students, dentists and specialists alike to provide benefit to their patients, and to advance and elevate the manner in which implant dentistry is practised.

Chapters include

- > Treatment planning of implants in the aesthetic zone
- > Surgical guidelines for dental implant placement
- > Impression techniques for implant dentistry
- > Transitioning patients from teeth to implants
- > The role of orthodontics in implant dentistry
- > Failures in implant dentistry
